EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Are we finished, yet? How many pages are left? Who's that? (Gawd, I hate Jostens!*) For the last six months, the yearbook staff has constantly asked these questions. When I agreed to head-up the yearbook, I had NO idea what I was getting into.

We got off to a bumpy start, with a staff that was constantly changing, no yearbook contract (we thought this was going to be a video yearbook!), no budget and numerous other obstacles that would spring up out of nowhere (thanks to Jostens). It seemed that we had taken on the impossible, but we tested the limits of possibility and beyond, to create what I feel is the best yearbook to come out of Westview since 1968.

And yet, none of this would have been possible without the work and support of a wonderful staff, that includes Joy, our staff advisor (thanks for the meals and risque jokes),

Shreedat (thanks for finding everything I lose), Gus (thanks for all your heart's effort) and snap-happy Steve who imbued life into every picture he took; all of whom burned the most 'midnight oil'. This yearbook tells the positive and real story of us, the students of Westview Centennial S.S., as we strive to show everyone that we have what it takes to make a well-deserved niche in today's ever-changing, and often terrifying, society. No one will ever put or keep us down!

Before I finish, I'll say that if I was given the chance to do this again, I would! You might think I'm crazy, but we all have to be a bit crazy to live this life. So Westview, this book is dedicated to you!!!

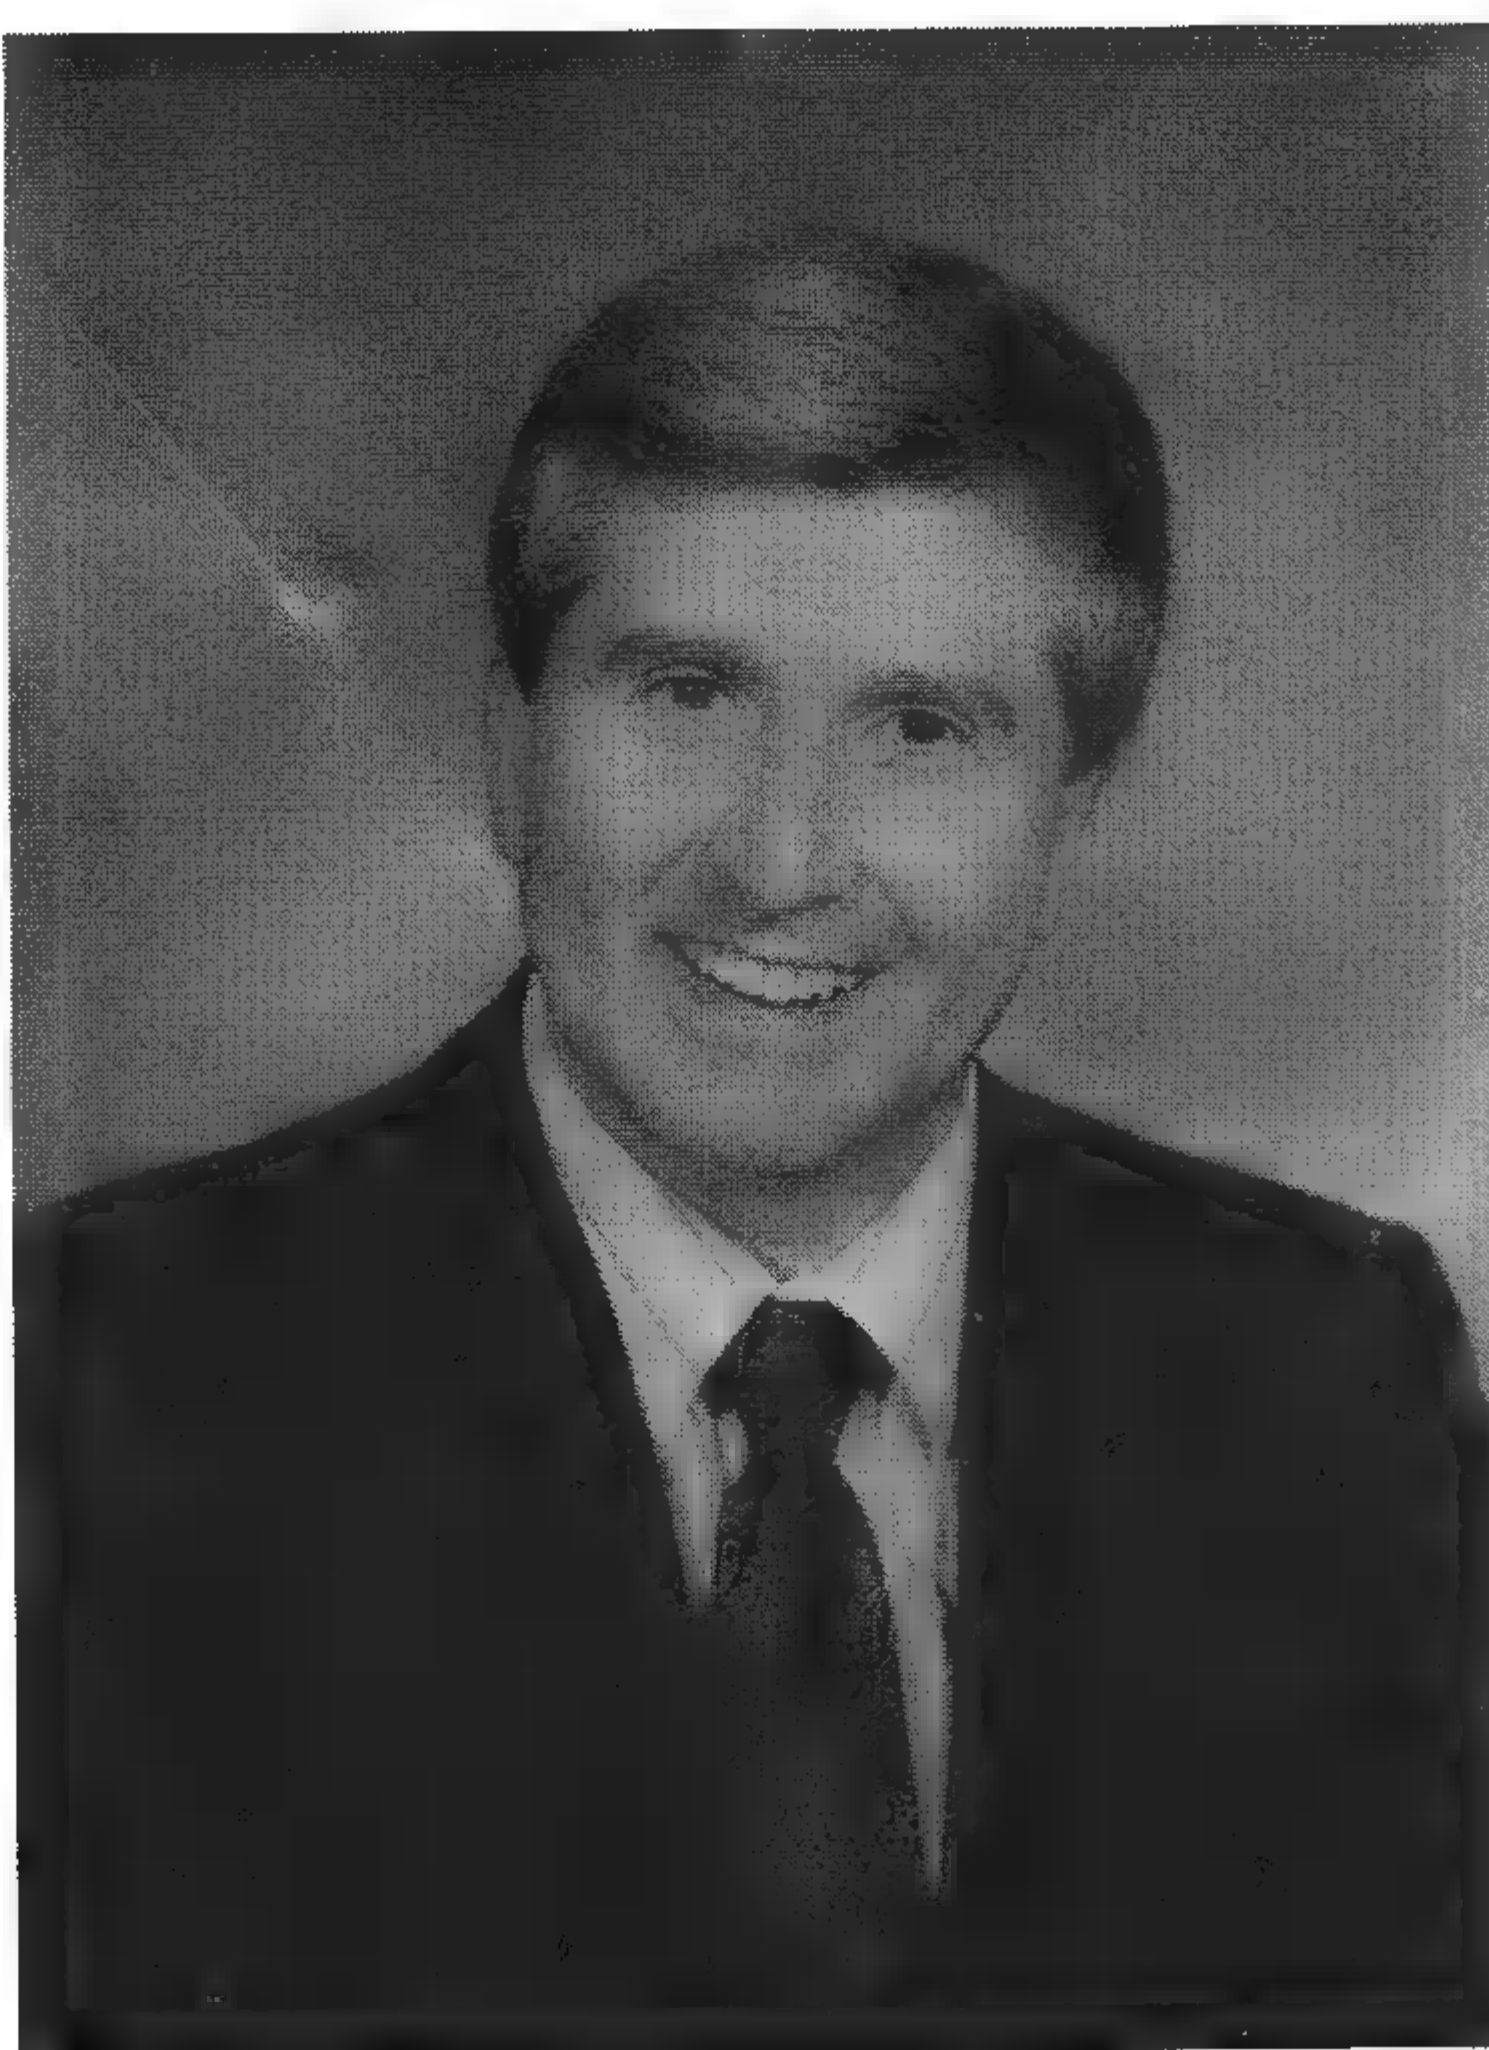

Anitra Basant

P.S.: Special thanks to Jackie Douglas, Loi Dang, Mr. Hall, Mr. Kelly, Mrs. Shea, Mrs. Cornelius and everyone else who volunteered their time and energies, and to Jennifer Martin for the wonderful work on the posters, and cartoons.

ADVISOR'S MESSAGE

Some people say you go a little squirrely working on a project like yearbook, but I can't say that I've noticed any difference except maybe when there's a full moon. But, seriously folks, this is one of the best, most dedicated and hardest working groups I've had the pleasure to have advised. We started late, worked up a solid head of steam and then became airborne only touching down to eat (a lot), sleep (a little), wait for photos to be developed (inter-

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

I am proud to be at Westview. Sometimes it doesn't seem "fashionable" to say this; particularly when others are critical of our school, but I am proud nonetheless.

Pride can have negative meanings, such as arrogance, but I am referring to the positive side, that feeling of elation and pleasure resulting from those circumstances and conditions which do us all credit.

Students managed to combine academic work with participation on school teams and various clubs and activities with great success. In addition, I am constantly amazed at the number of people who work part time as well. We can all take pride in these efforts and achievements.

Sometimes it seems hard when the work is going on. Hard work is never fun at the time when you're doing it, but when you're finished and the good results are showing . . . that's fun. That feeling that results? That's pride!

As you look through this book over the years ahead, consider the memories of your achievements and feel that well-earned pride again.

minably) and complain about Jostens (continuously). I'd like to thank all the little people (Anitra, that's you), the whole yearbook staff, the great numbers of staff and students at Westview who pitched in and especially Ornella and Cheryl and the whole Canada Yearbook crew who made this book a reality.

A black and white photograph of a person wearing a dark, hooded garment. The hood features a prominent grid-like pattern, possibly a mesh or a decorative element. The person is standing against a light, plain background. The image is grainy and has a high-contrast, somewhat abstract quality.

A black and white photograph of a smiling woman sitting on the ground. She is wearing a dark jacket over a light-colored top and light-colored pants. She is holding a large, light-colored bag or bundle in her lap. In the background, there is a large, dark umbrella or canopy structure. The setting appears to be outdoors, possibly in a park or garden. The image is grainy and has a vintage feel.

GOOD LUCK GRADS!

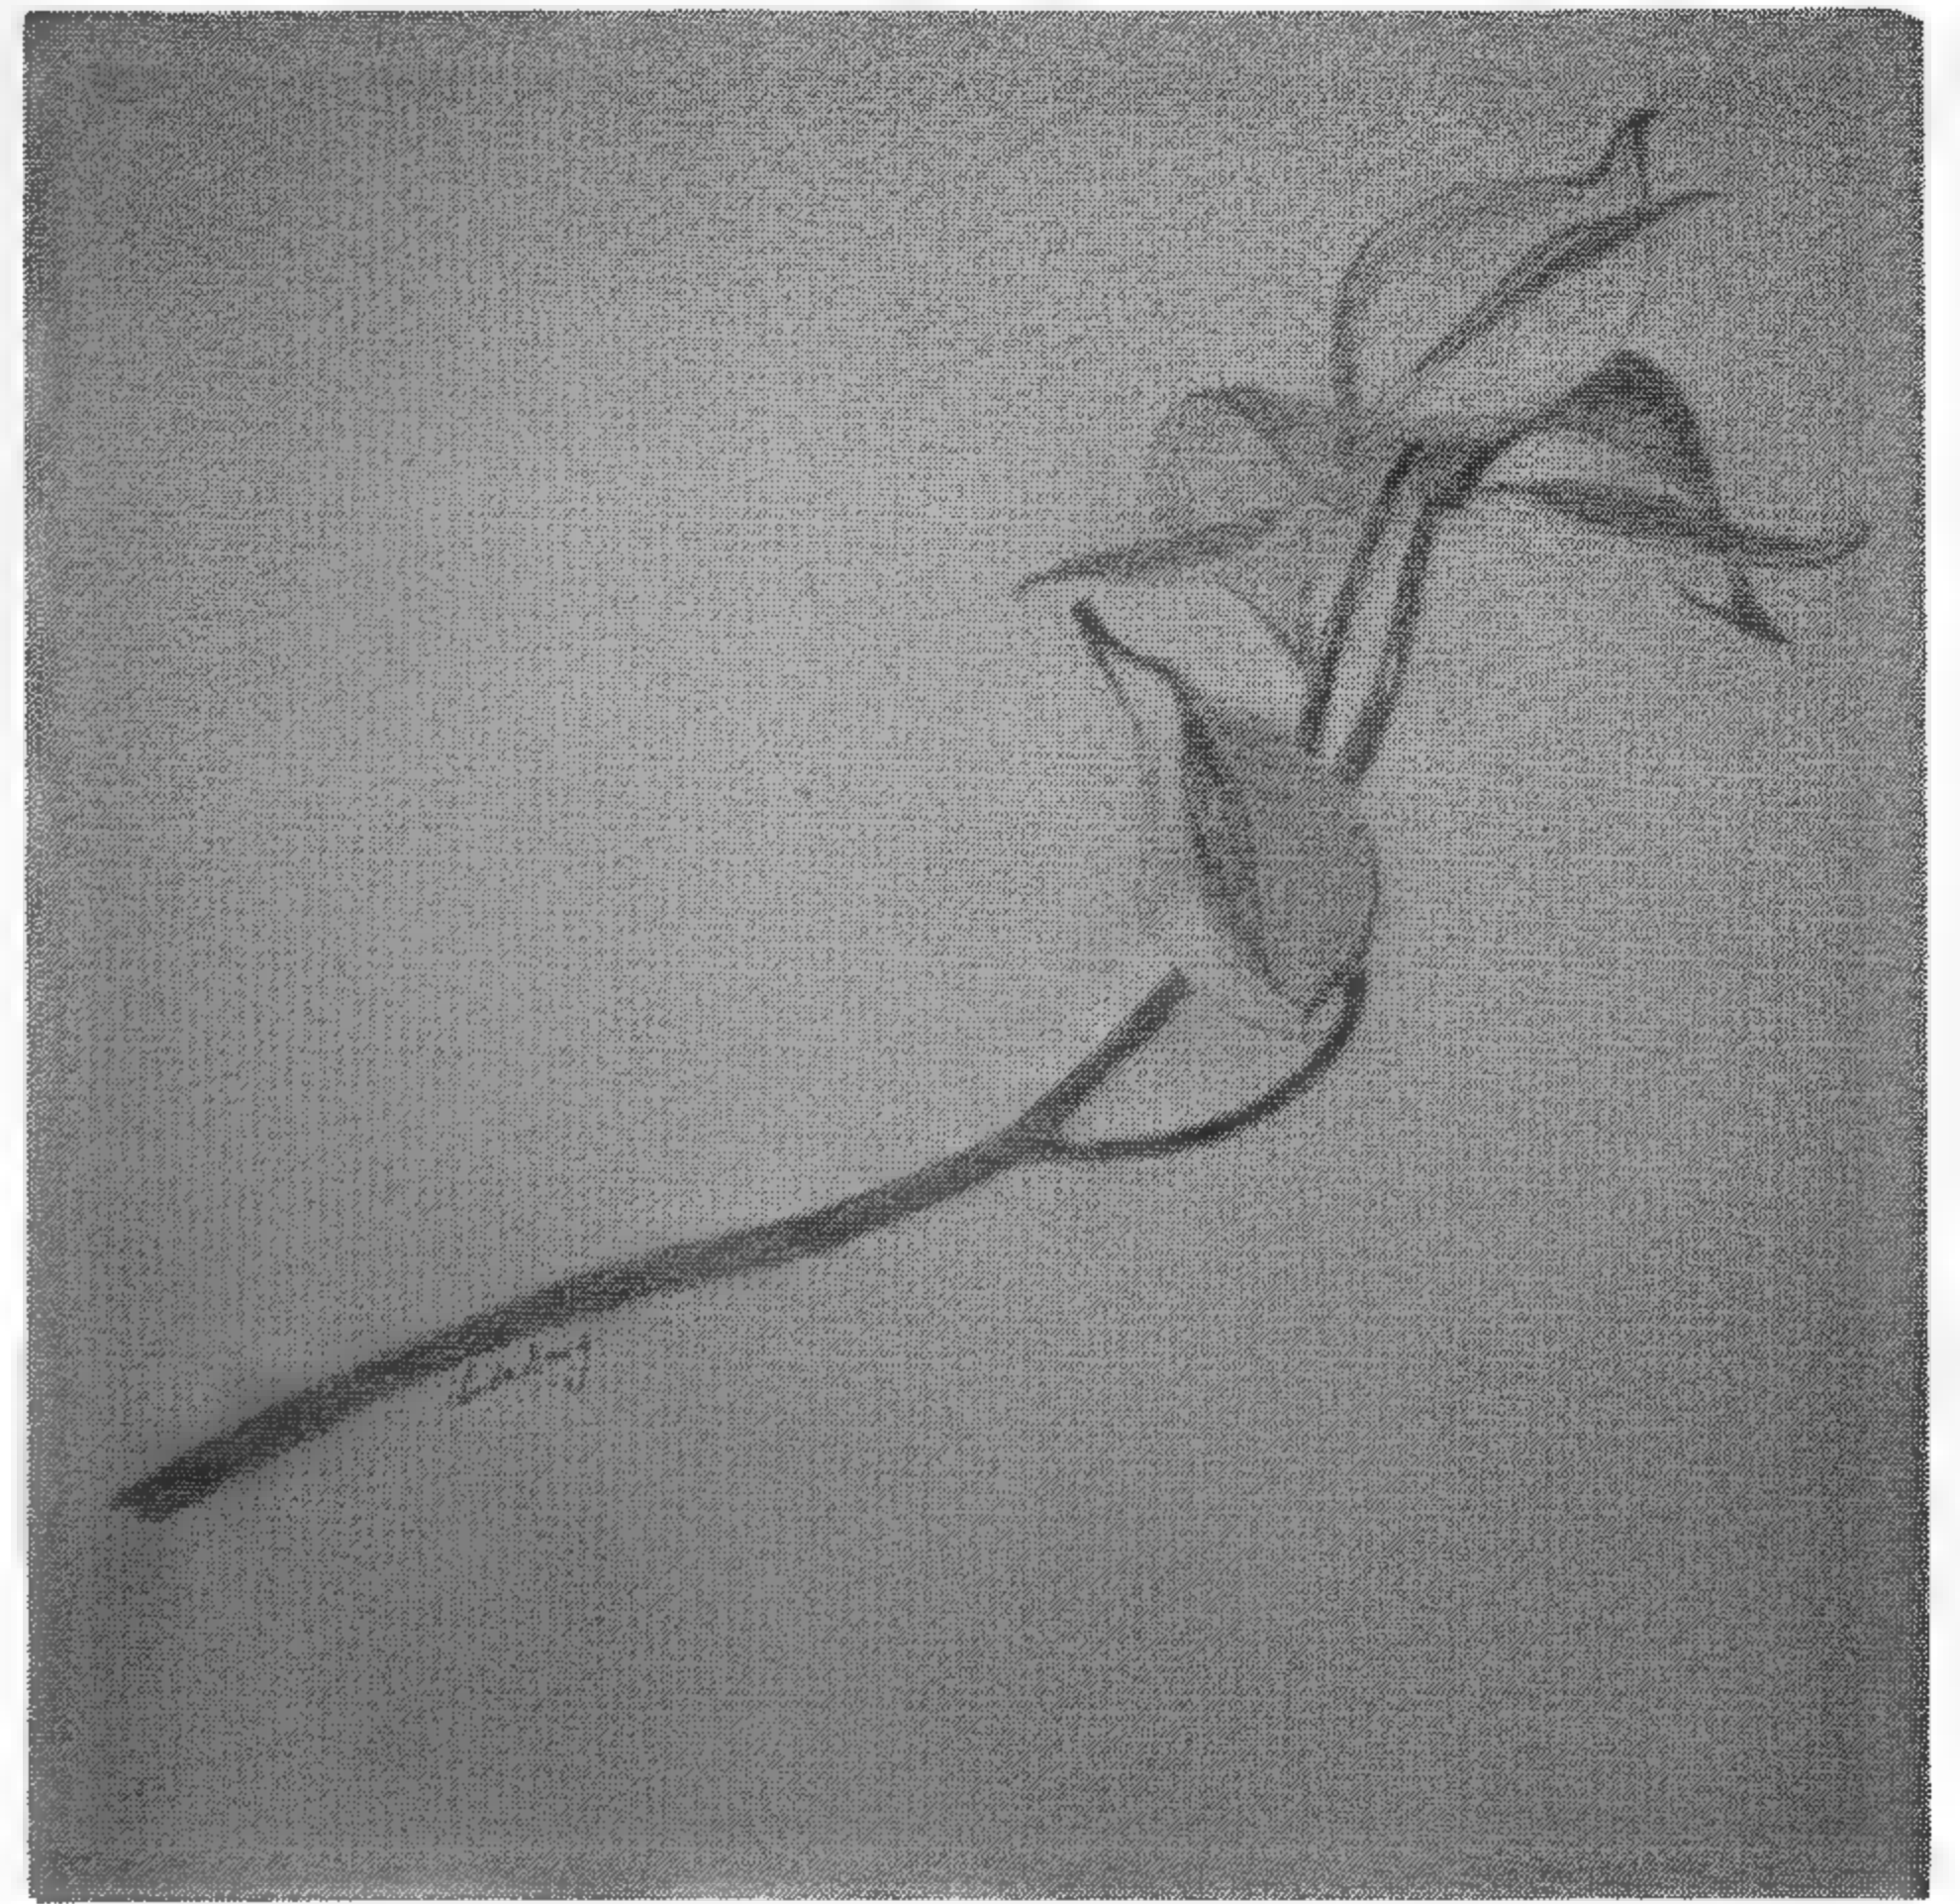

MISSING YOU

Life had started for me,
The day I had met you,
And was very happy,
The day you said, "I do",
Your eyes sparkled,
Like the ocean blue,
So when you were gone,
I had missed you.
Even though,
We are apart,
You will always know,
You are in my heart.

J.L.

Let's change the world.
 To all of us who care and don't care.
 To all of us brothers and sisters,
 13
 Black or White.
 To all of us from Caribbean,
 Germany, or even Spain.
 Let's get together and release the pain.
 Don't be Racist.
 Love him for who he is, not what he is.

SAD THINKING

We are living on the edge,
 Without knowing what is true or false
 We are living in the dreams,
 Because we don't know how to survive in real life
 We are living, or it's just a dream,
 Dream of God
 Is there any point to do that which we do?
 Or why are we living in this world of theirs?
 Who am I to ask Him why?
 We are dying in the dark,
 Because no one cares about us.
 When you've lost your God
 You start to ask questions,
 On which only he can answer.
 But, why should he answer?
 Maybe this is why?!
 Maybe we have to live for . . . I don't know.
 But, I know that if He is what He is
 There will be a price
 For those who live the Good Life

Adam

OUR DREAMS

In the dark night,
In the deep sleep,
We are changing ourselves
Into the heroes of dreams.
Fighting with monsters of darkness,
Having romances with queens,
Solving problems to perfect crimes,
Being the richest man on Earth.
Meeting new friends and enemies,
And flying in space, between the stars,
And driving into the deepest seas.
Our dreams are full of blood,
And monsters and beauty,
And love and adventure.

Adam Lzymczak

It was a night,
a moon night.
The fight was over,
But not for a long time.
'Cause it will begin, once, twice, a hundred times.
The history of us
Is the History of war.
Why We, humans, brothers and sisters
Are fighting between us?
Nobody can answer this question.
War, war, and a hundred times war
The crime, The violence, The people.
This is the picture of Earth.
Earth is our Mother who can't stop us
Is crying for help.
But there is nobody who wants to help her
So we are alone, and fighting.
We are fighting and
We will be fighting.
It is difficult to understand us
It is difficult to understand the humans . . .

ORIGINAL ART: YASAR RAZVI

In February the magazines Share and NOW decided to voice their unfounded opinions of our school, Westview. These articles were, as our principal put it, "a construct of reality". They had little, if any truth in them. It makes us wonder why these magazines would print lies about our school. Maybe to get back at some of the people at Westview? To make more sales? more readers? Or maybe, they were trying to help out our school? There are many other ways to help our school, but we are sure that these articles did more damage than help! The damage is done, and the only thing we can do is to look ahead and hope that this will not cause others to begin to lose hope in our school. Only we know the real truth about our school. We go to it everyday. We see the spirit, (the V-ball games, clubs, sports, cheering), we see the interest, (P.P.C., Anti-Racism, Wen Do). We see the school as our school and not just a place to hang around for six hours. We may not be able to stop magazines from printing material like that, but they should get ready to be put down by the truth! We won't stand for this! We can't! We know the truth and we don't need statistics to tell us what we lack. We know what's wrong and we also know that it is up to us, not to Share and NOW, to solve these problems. We don't need misguided columnists, whose only job appears to be "print for readers", and writing trash about our school. Westview may not be the best school, but it's our school! It is up to us to clear its name from the shame. If we fight as one, there will be nothing for these magazine to write. They have done their damage, so the only thing left to do is to raise our heads to the future and deal with our problems as they come, one by one.. Hope is for the ones who truly believe that there is hope, and success is for the ones who see it through.

On this thought, the Yearbook Committee hopes that we will all work together so that no one can say that Westview is just the school behind the hospital, but that it's the school behind the people!!

RESPONSE TO SHARE & NOW ARTICLE DATED FEBRUARY 20-27, 1992

"Student Council elections were arbitrarily cancelled and an appointed body of students imposed on them by the authorities."

Elections were not cancelled last spring, there was little interest from potential candidates. The request for an election came only after the volunteer council had been functioning for a month.

"It is seldom publicly acknowledged that the school has also gained a reputation as a major source for drugs . . ."

In fact, the police indicate that the school is no more of a source for drugs than is any other school, and it may well be less.

" . . . no black student received an award out of the 50 presented for academic achievement at school commencement ceremonies . . ."

Of 20 scholarships and bursaries presented, 8 went to black students. Of 11 citizenship awards, 3 were won by black students.

"Westview – more than any other school in Ontario – has become a symbol of the failure of Black and West Indian students in the Canadian school system."

Through articles such as this one it may well be that this statement, which is the author's opinion, may become shared by others. This statement and the entire article ignore the many academic, athletic and artistic accomplishments of black and West Indian students at Westview.

"When an altercation occurs at Westview, the police are immediately called."

Police are only contacted by the school when it appears that ■ crime may have been committed. Police contact is no more frequent than in neighbouring schools.

"Of those from Westview who do go on to post-secondary schools (usually community colleges of vocational schools), the vast majority, according to ongoing tracking studies being conducted by the school, are underachieving – scoring on average, C's and D's."

Data is not available from community colleges. Data from universities is very limited, i.e.,

- a) forwarded to schools with student consent;
- b) initial attempts at monitoring through one university.

" . . . even though almost 70 per cent of the school's students are of African or Caribbean heritage."

25% of the students were born in the Caribbean and an additional 11% have a female parent born in the Caribbean. Assuming all are black, the total is still only 36%. When students born in Africa (or with a female parent born in Africa) are included, the total still would only be 41%.

" . . . home for most being nearby government-subsidized towers rising imposingly above Jane Street."

While many students do live in what may be described as high rise apartments, it is less than half and it is not correct to categorize all of these as government subsidized.

" . . . dropout rate among black males at Westview at about 60 per cent. The Ontario average is 30 per cent. According to one parents' group, well over 100 black males dropped out before the end of the school's first semester."

It cannot be assumed that departures are equivalent to dropouts. The area has a high mobility rate and many students depart only to register in other locations. Departure data from September 3, 1991 to February 25, 1992 indicates a total departure level of 298 students. Setting aside the 103 "no shows" (most of whom enrolled in other schools) of the remaining 195 who departed for a variety of reasons, only 13 were born in the Caribbean. There were 11 students who "dropped out" who were born in Canada and even if all of these students were black, the total number is 24.

"Police 'visit' the school and walk the halls, on average, two times a week and are regularly called in to quell 'disturbances'."

In order to contribute to community and police relations, the school is considered part of the community and treated accordingly for normal police patrol activity. In the last 4 years the police have been never called to quell a disturbance.

"Many say that tensions between students and teachers at the school are so deep-seated that expulsion and suspensions are commonplace."

There have been 2 expulsions in the last 4 years. The suspension rates are not out of line with other comparable schools of Westview's size.

"In 1988-89, for example, Westview showed the highest failure rate of any school in the North York system (and perhaps Metro) in a study conducted by the North York school board."

No such study was ever conducted.

"There are few sports teams because, students say, teachers are reluctant to get involved in extra-curricular activities."

There are 23 school teams, each of which has at least one staff member working with it. There are 20 intramural activities. The athletic program involves over 500 students.
